DEA Names Transportation Business Development Vice President

PORTLAND, Ore. – March 16, 2011 – Tom Walsh has joined David Evans and Associates, Inc. (DEA) as vice president and business development leader for transportation. He will be based at DEA's corporate headquarters in Portland, Ore.

Walsh has more than 25 years of experience in transportation infrastructure, including business development, project management, and office management. He most recently was a principal and senior manager at Otak, Inc. in Lake Oswego, Ore.

As business development leader, Walsh will work closely with transportation clients and DEA employees across the firm's 17 offices to facilitate service delivery and build strategic partnerships.

DEA offers transportation planning, design, and engineering services to clients throughout the U.S. Specialties include transit, heavy rail, roads and highways, bridges and structures, transportation planning, and major program management. Clients include the Federal Transit Authority; the National Park Service; State Departments of Transportation in California, Colorado, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington; Transit agencies for metropolitan areas in Portland, Ore., Denver, Colo., Phoenix, Ariz., and San Diego, Calif.; the Union Pacific and the Burlington Northern Railroad companies; and several counties, including Washington and Multnomah counties in Oregon.

Since its founding in 1976 in Portland, Ore., DEA has become a leader in progressive and sustainable design and management solutions for transportation, land development, energy, and water projects nationwide. DEA's staff includes professional engineers, surveyors, hydrographers, planners, landscape architects, and natural resources scientists. DEA has 17 offices in seven states and employs more than 650 people. DEA is an employee-owned corporation and consistently ranks among ENR's Top 100 Pure Design firms in the U.S.
